

Table 1: The contents of wide reflective equilibrium in Theory and Liberalism (from Daniels 1996, p. 157).

Original Position; Principles of justice; free and equal agents; well-ordered society; procedural justice; general social theory [ n.b. not freestanding module ]	Original Position; Principles of justice; free and equal agents; well-ordered society; procedural justice; general social theory [n.b. freestanding module]
Philosophical arguments justifying key elements of justice as fairness, such as argument about autonomy needed to show congruence between good for individuals and what is just elements of justice as fairness, such as argument about autonomy needed to show congruence between good for individuals and what is just [ n.b. share rationale ]	Rationale for key elements of justice as fairness [ n.b. rationale specific to each wide reflective equilibrium ]
	Account of reasonableness and burdens of judgment
	Rationale for boundary between public and nonpublic; specifics of boundary.
Rest of moral and religious views	Rest of moral and religious views
Considered moral judgments, all levels	Considered moral judgments, all levels