A range of projects will be underway over the next 12 months following consultation and feedback on plans such as Lane Cove's Community Strategic Plan – Liveable Lane Cove: 2035 and the Delivery Program and Operational Plan for 2022/23.

Key projects include:

For more details on what's planned www.lanecove.nsw.gov.au/liveablelanecove

Four playgrounds are earmarked for an upgrade in 2022/23. Pictured above is a recently upgraded playground at Stringybark Reserve.

Celebrating Council's Switch to Renewable Energy

Did you know that all Council buildings in Lane Cove are now powered by 100% renewable energy? This, combined with Council's other energy savings and own solar power generation projects, decreases Council's emissions by 73% – a significant advance on our 80% reduction target set for 2036.

The switch to GreenPower on 1 July means that Council is now responsible for 0.5% of emissions in the Lane Cove local government area. Our focus over the next 12 months is to promote, support and empower residents and local businesses to consider how they can adopt GreenPower and reduce Lane Cove's emissions. That's why Council has joined a Sydney-wide campaign to encourage locals to make the switch. The website getgreenpower.sydney is filled with a host of useful information to encourage everyone from renters to apartment owners and businesses to make the switch in as little as 10 minutes.

This is the only government accredited and audited green energy program so if you've been thinking of switching to use one of the 140+ accredited GreenPower generators across NSW this could be a useful first step.

Visit www.getgreenpower.sydney for all the details and be part of the switch in Lane Cove.

Bushfire Management

To assist with the management of our bushland areas, Council has a Bushfire Hazard Reduction Strategic Plan to identify opportunities for conducting hazard reduction prescribed burning over the coming decade. The aim of hazard reduction burning is to minimise impacts of wildfires on life, property and the environment and as such it is undertaken during the cooler months of the year. Keep an eye on Council's website for details on scheduled hazard reduction burns in the local area in the coming months as we get prepared for Summer.

Council also works closely with the Rural Fire Service (RFS) and Bushfire Coordinating Committee (BFCC) to manage bushfire risk in our area. Council is part of the Hunters Hill, Lane Cove, Parramatta and Ryde Bushfire Management Committee (BFMC).

The BFMC is in the process of drafting a new regional Bushfire Risk Management

Plan 2022-2026. The plan sets out the type of work required to deal with the risk of bushfires in our area. It is anticipated that this Plan will be on community consultation for a period six weeks, commencing during Winter. To view and make comment on the Plan once it is released, see Council's website: www.lanecove.nsw.gov.au/haveyoursay

Citizenship Awards

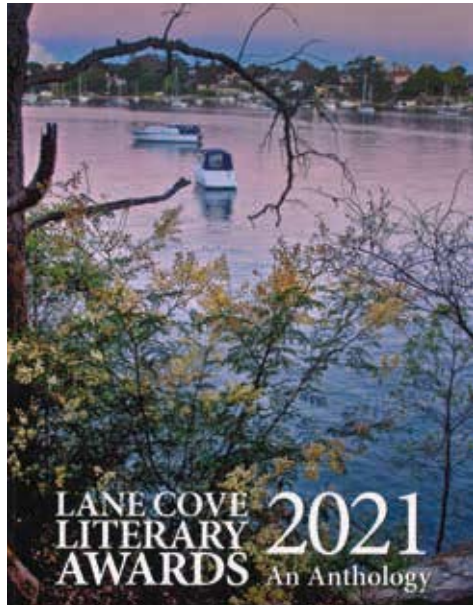

Lane Cove's Annual Citizenship and Neighbour Day Awards were held during National Volunteer Week.

Speaking of the significance of the evening Clr Zbik said, "This provides us with an additional opportunity to thank those who willingly give their time for 'the common good'".

21 recipients were awarded a Citizenship Award which culminated in the announcement of Citizen of the Year, Michelle Casiglia. Michelle has been the President of the Lane Cove Concert Band since 2017. There are more than 200 members across six bands which Michelle voluntarily oversees. During the COVID lockdowns Michelle kept everyone's spirits high and brought a sense of normality during uncertain times by coordinating online rehearsals and performances and supporting the ongoing success of this thriving local group.

Congratulations to all recipients who were recognised for their contributions.

Latest chapter for Literary Awards

On 9 June 2022 Council held a book launch for Lane Cove Literary Awards 2021: An Anthology. Due to the global pandemic Council was unable to host an in-person awards ceremony in 2021 and this year's event gave us an opportunity to celebrate the writers' achievements.

Lane Cove Literary Awards 2021: An Anthology features 32 fascinating and varied short stories, memoirs and poems from the shortlisted entries received last year. This publication is a wonderful way to capture the talents, interests, and concerns of Australian writers.

Copies are available for sale at Lane Cove Library for the price of $20.00. Please note the Library does not accept cash.

Environmental Leadership Award

Council was recently recognised at the Local Government Professionals Awards with a Highly Commended Award for Environmental Leadership.

Our Award submission entitled EmPOWERING a Climate Resilient Community highlighted Council's leadership through;

- short-term energy emission and water use targets;
- climate resilience;
- our electric vehicle network &
- urban forest strategy/tree canopy tools

Congratulations to all staff who have been involved in the projects which contributed to this well-deserved Award.

Tree Update

In recent years we have experienced contrasting weather patterns with searing heat and drought followed by monsoonal rain and water inundation. The current water table is sitting at record highs, with sopping wet swamp-like conditions all throughout the greater Sydney basin. Mature trees although resilient, don't tend to cope or tolerate consistently wet feet, placing extra stress on an already aging tree population in Lane Cove. This has been observed mostly in the Australian native species with particular focus on Mugga Ironbark (Eucalyptus sideroxylon), Sydney Red Gum (Angophora costata), Wallangarra White Gum (Eucalyptus scoparia) as well as other native tree species (predominantly Eucalyptus) that prefer well-drained soils. Over the next couple of months, Council's tree team and approved tree contractors will be undertaking various tree removals in order to alleviate public safety concerns. In areas such as Burns Bay Road there is a longer-term tree replacement program in place to address the mature avenue of White Gums between Centennial Avenue and Lane Cove Plaza.

If you're concerned about a tree on your street or in a local park you can visit www.lanecove.nsw.gov.au/onlineservices to report the details to Council.

Legendary Local Artwork

Lane Cove is home to another Traffic Signal Box artwork on the corner of Burns Bay Road and Tambourine Bay Road, recently completed in May 2022.

Local Legends by Sydney artist James Gulliver Hancock pays homage to the local history of Burns Bay and Tambourine Bay. The artist tells us, "In this artwork we see the history of timbergetting along Burns Bay Road to Lane Cove River with logs and waterways twisting around the traffic signal box. The repeating logs intersect local flora and fauna with wattle, black mangroves and red gums lining the paths. Tambourine Sal's tambourine pops out of the scene also sparking the curiosity of kookaburras and sulphur-crested cockatoos."

For details of Lane Cove's local street art, including a new ping pong table artwork in Lane Cove North, visit www.lanecove.nsw.gov.au/streetsidegallery
