Scholarly Needs (SN): where Researchers & Industries meet

ISEE encourages education of millennium youths for employability with the conscious of ethics and environmental care. It creates an exclusive forum for young researchers to learn from the peer group and to device strategies with the help of experts to apply their learning for social problem solving through the interactive forum (www.scholarlyNeeds.com).

SN is a professional platform for budding scholars/researchers to get connected among themselves and also with leading scientific professionals freely. The Interactive Forum accelerates free information flow to enrich young research minds and ignites their passion for innovations. In this regard, SN also networks with industries to post their problems to SN intellectual forum and seek solution that can ultimately benefit the society.

To reach out further, the society also joins hands with various Academic Institutes to conduct conferences and workshops to create a common platform for experts, researchers, educational managers, policy makers and industrialists to join and deliberate.

The Indian Society of Education and Environment (ISEE)

ISEE (www.iseeadyar.org) is a non-profit organization (NGO) founded its inception in 2007 as a Society by the initiatives of Scientists, Educationalists and Healthcare professionals from India.

ISEE strives to contribute its mites in the realm of Education, Environment and Health. In this regard, ISEE has been engaged in spreading Health and Environment awareness by conducting special campaigns, seminars and conferences and also by supporting research projects.

ISEE pays special attention to bridge knowledge gaps and economic disparity for information access among regions and strengthens the academic ties among young researchers with experts globally.

In this regard, iSee conducts conferences, workshops and encourages open access publications. Thus, iSee is benefitting the Researchers as well as the world community with fruit of innovation through unlimited knowledge sharing.

Publications

With the above objectives, ISEE Published peer reviewed articles (> 14000 research articles through its journals of various fields) (<https://indjst.org/archives>; <https://www.iseeadyar.org/ijst-articles>) by means of open access policy. The research work sharing, peer review process, interaction and free access to the innovative ideas remove the regional knowledge disparity and ease the economic impediments in the learning process.
